

Read you poem aloud. How does it sound?

Now You Try: Copy the blank into your writing workshop notebook and try an alliteration poem for yourself!

Bill's bakery bakes beautiful bagels!!

Alliteration poem: Each word begins with the same letter sound.

Line A

List poems: A list created to match one subject.

*When I am sick . . .
ears throb
throat hurts
head pounds
skin sweats body aches*

Now You Try: Copy the blanks into your writing workshop notebook and try a list poem for yourself!

When I am _____

Read you poem aloud. How does it sound?

Read you poem aloud. How does it sound?

Now You Try: Copy the blank into your writing workshop notebook and try a last link poem for yourself!

Talking gets students "shhshhed"

Last link poem: Each word begins with the last letter of the previous word.

Line A

Short Sentence Poems

These poems are only a few words long. Short on vocabulary? Then this is the poem for you!